“ I was and still am so proud to be the daughter of Brian Chamberlain. He was a WONDERFUL father! He was funny, wise, always took initiative to get things done. He demonstrated for my what a husband and father should be to my brother and I. He listened to us and gave us sound advice. When I told him I wanted to move to New York to further my acting career, he and my mother Sharon and brother dropped everything to move me across the country. I would go on to move many more times including Chicago and Los Angeles and they were there each time. I was a little bratty on the way to my last move to LA and even still my dad drove me around looking for furniture for my apartment, and gave me money to wash my car and fill up my tank because he was that kind of Dad. He was massively protective of his family and friends. He taught me loyalty and I find myself still recalling and living by the life lessons has left me. I love you so much Daddy and I am who I am today because of you! I praise God that I was I was blessed to have you as a father. I find so much comfort in knowing that you were a believer in Christ Jesus! I miss you so much and rest well until we meet again. P.S. Your grandson is so grateful for the toy lawnmower you got him; you purchased this long before I'd gotten pregnant. I'm still in awe that you knew already had anticipated the future in this way. Love you! Say hi to Grandma and Uncle Marc, Grandpa, Uncle Terry Aunt Debbie and everyone else for me!
