“Carnetta was my sibling in the years before my little sister was born. My first girl, first cousin. While I am disappointed that I will not see her face or hear her voice the next time I come to town, I am very thankful for the times we have spent together through our communication over the last few years. It's been a joy rebuilding our relationship as adults and planning together. Our reunion on this side of heaven was not to be, but one day we will laugh and play together again as we once did. I will always love Carnetta. Cicero, Loretta, Terry, and family: know you are in my prayers and that I send love to all of you. Sunya Williams Folayan

“To the Applewhite Family: On behalf of the Caldwell family, we take this time to express our personal condolences to the family of Carnetta Applewhite. Our deepest thoughts and prayers go out to the family and friends during this time of great sadness. May all grieving hearts please draw comfort in knowing and understanding this loving promise from God. This comforting promise tells us about God's purpose to restore life back to those who have died. In fact, this promise is recorded at John 5:28-29. In these verses, God tells us that He would soon use His great powers to restore life back to our departed loved ones. This arrangement will be possible because God is the source of life for every living thing. (Psalm 36:9) And to assist all to develop strong faith in this promise, God has preserved nine accounts in the Bible that speaks about the resurrection blessing. Here is just one such example that is recorded at Acts 9:36-42. I hope that all will get a chance to see how these verses apply to Carnetta, and a great host of others who await their personal awakening from the deep sleep of death. So may all please keep this promise from God near your hearts at all times. Remember that when God makes a promise, it becomes reality. For it is impossible for God to lie. (Titus 1:2)
