“Jerri as she was so fondly called by many, I can see your beautiful smile in my memory. Although you are gone, you will always live amongst us. I often talk about the Webb reunion that you pulled together with so many others along with Cousin Avery Lee. It's just the graveyard that has separated us and I am sure God is happy to add you to his garden. Keep glowing in heaven cousin. Family, weeping may endure for a night, but JOY cometh in the morning. May God continue to bless each of you as you experience this life without Jerri. Love you fam.

“Mother, daughter, sister, aunt, cousin, friend, teacher. Our beloved “Jeri” was all of that and so much more. Her endearing optimism and positivity were constantly on display. Rarely did you see her without a smile and she was always ready for engaging conversation (a Webb trait). Jeri’s love for family resulted in her becoming our de facto “Family Historian”. Thank you Jeri, for simply being you!

It is my prayer that God will cover the family and friends with comfort and peace. And that our hearts be filled with joyful memories in the years to come.

“ Jeri who was a double first cousin to my siblings and me will always be remembered for her glowing personality, the fact she was positive about all things and could light up a room simply by walking through the entrance. Recently thumbing through pictures of Jeri, I was flooded with many memories. At times I smiled, I laughed and even a tear ticked my cheek. For those who had the pleasure of knowing Jeri, your memories, like mine, will last a lifetime. May God bless our family and friends with peace and comfort.
