“ To the Bacon Family: With heavy hearts we take this time to express our personal condolences to the family of John Bacon. Our deepest thoughts and prayers go out to the entire family, and friends of the family during this hour of great sadness. Once again, another family has been on the receiving end of getting unwelcomed news regarding the passing of a loved one or friends. News of this nature only serves as a reminder of how far God's earthly family has fallen from His original purpose for us. Instead of being able to live forever, we find ourselves and family members and friends falling asleep in death. Today all can find tender comfort in coming to understand this loving promise from God. In this recorded promise, God tells us about the future hope of seeing our loved ones having their lives restored back to them. The promise is recorded at John 5:28-29 and Acts 24:15. In these verses, God tells us that He would soon call to those in the grave to stand up in life again. Did you know that from these verses, that God is giving us His personal guarantee that the restoring of life back to our loved ones would surely take place. All today can have the upmost confidence that this arrangement will take place, because as the scripture states, that God is the source of life for all things. (Psalm 36:9) So all today can obtain the very same knowledge that Job had when He asked the question that if a person dies can He live again. (Job 14:14-15) All today can also develop strong faith in this promise from God by reading of nine accounts in the Bible that speaks about the resurrection blessing that is ever so near at hand. Here is just one such example that is recorded at John 11:32-44. I truly hope that all will get a chance to see how these verses apply to John, and a great host of others who have fallen asleep in death, and who await their personal awakening from the deep grip of death. So, in closing, we encourage all to please keep this promise from God near your hearts at all times. Remember that when God makes a promise, it becomes reality. For it is important for God to lie. (Titus 1:2)
