“ To the Jackson Family:I would like to take this time to express my personal condolences to the entire family. We are truly saddened to hear about the recent passing of Paulette P Jackson. Our thoughts and prayers are with the entire family. No there is never a welcome time to hear about the passing of anyone. Then when death strikes, it is only a reminder of how far the human family has fallen from God's original purpose. The entire human family knows that death is our enemy. (1 Corinthians 15:26) There is something else that the human family should know about. It is this promise from God that He would soon restore life back to those who have died. No it is not a secret. Paulette had know of the scriptures. I wonder how many times had she read the many accounts that dealt with the promise resurrection to life. Briefly, please take note of this loving promise that God makes known to people everywhere they reside. This promise will also bring benefits for those who have also died. From the scriptures God states that He would soon call to those who have died, and that our departed love ones would hear His voice and stand up in life again. (John 5:28-29) This promise serves as a personal guarantee from God that our love ones will live again. Remember that God does not lie. (Titus 1:2)
