Porcia was preceded in death by her father, Herbert R. Harris (2022), her maternal grandparents Donald(1968) and Linnie Cotton(2001), and her paternal grandparents Herbert Harris(1980) and Jamie Harris (2005).

Porcia married Broderick Hudson and from the union, Caleb Hudson was born. Her greatest and most joyful and proudest moment next to Caleb was the birth of her grandson Benaiah Glenroy Charles Hudson.

Porcia inherited the attitude of hard work. She was a “Jackie of All Trades”. She moved to Los Angeles where she worked as an Insurance Administrator. Her passion in life was to care for others. She worked as a CNA at the Loman-Linda Hospital. The medical staff greatly appreciated her tireless work and contributions to the medical field.

She moved to San Bernardino, California where she worked as a sales representative at Kohl's retailers until she became disabled and health prevented her from working. She supplemented her income with her entrepreneurial skills and spirit. She used her God-given gifts and talents to bring joy to others by creating various projects such as knitted sweaters and paper-mache graphics for seasonal decorations.
