“ *Shemar, I didn't know you had passed until I saw a friend post on Facebook about it a while ago and tried to ask about you but never got a response, so I thought about writing to you here for some odd reason, maybe it will reach you in heaven somehow. I'm sorry that you had to leave your family so soon, but know you are with the Lord now and pray that you are at peace. I remember our lives intertwining somewhere between 2014 and 2016, when we were in high school and I was a freshman and sophomore. What we had was far from perfect, but you taught me a lot about myself and about life. Just to name a few, you showed me how to dance and sing and to not care what anyone thinks when they see you, and you showed me how beautiful I was not only in your eyes but mine.
You also always knew how to smile and make other smile, even though you weren't always happy, I always admired that about you.
It takes a strong person to be able to smile through pain. God took us down separate paths that lead us apart, but I never forgot about you or our experiences together and the time we shared. I pray for your family and that they might find peace and healing in your passing. Goodbye, until we meet again :)*
