“ I've been in such disbelief over your passing that I haven't been able to post. The overwhelming sense of sadness when I think about your girls, your grandchildren, your siblings, and extended family and friends who loved you so deeply. The love you shared “unconditionally” with others. I had no idea that the last time I spoke with you in August would be my last. My heart breaks when I think about missing your posts of your beautiful grandchildren, of the pageants, the games, the sleepovers, teaching them how to cook and bake, and spreading love to others as you so selflessly did. My heart breaks knowing that their little hearts are broken, not fully understanding what the loss of their grandmother means. The peace I saw on your face yesterday was the peace of a job well done. You will be greatly missed by all who loved and had the privilege of knowing you. This is a great loss to the community of Conway, Arkansas, and certainly to our community of Atchison, Kansas. May God comfort and bless the entire family. Rest well in paradise, dear Yvette. Rest well. 🙏🙏❤️
